

MEMBER FOCUS - RELO CHECK INVENTORY SERVICES September 2012

Since October 2011 the relocation industry is served by a new provider of inventory services called ReloCheck. A multitude of existing inventory providers are predominantly retained by letting agents and landlords. And although they are largely independent (unless part of a letting agency) their perception can become biased over time working for the same kind of client. ReloCheck however is working exclusively for DSPs and RMCs and responding to their and their clients' requirements and no work for either letting agents or landlords is undertaken.

Owner of ReloCheck, Gerry Moes, worked for over ten years in the relocation industry as Financial Director of a successful DSP and was regularly tasked with check-ins and check-outs at peak times when availability of inventory clerks was scarce. This eventually triggered the idea to start an inventory agency exclusively for the relocation industry and ReloCheck was formed. In addition to earlier experience, Gerry received formal AIIC training and is a fully qualified inventory clerk. Recently ReloCheck became an Affiliate Member of ARP to further the firm's profile amongst its target group.

ReloCheck operates in Greater London as well as the Southern Counties at competitive rates. Meter readings and unusual findings are supported by digital photos.
